Gift Card Scams: Hang Up, Every Time

No real business or agency ever asks for gift cards.

We Make I.T. Happen!™

1 A Reason to Pay Right Now

Back taxes, a shut-off notice, a prize fee, or bail money.

2 It Has to Be a Gift Card

Usually several cards from different stores, to stay under the radar.

3 They Want the Numbers, by Phone

Reading the code off the back is the same as handing over cash.

4 The One Rule

No real business or agency ever accepts payment in gift cards.

5 Watch for the Disguises

Fake IRS, a utility shut-off threat, tech support, or a "prize."

6 Compare the Payment Methods

A credit card can be disputed. A gift card never can.

7 Hang Up, Verify Yourself

Call the real agency or company using a number you look up.

8 Already Paid? Act Fast

Call the gift card issuer right away — the number is on the back.

Good to Know

- Haven't given the numbers yet? Keep the card and receipt for a possible refund.
- A full refund isn't guaranteed, but acting fast gives you the best chance.
- Not sure if a call is real? Call 239-513-1960 before you buy anything.
